

Daffodil 'Dutch Master'

Narcissus 'Dutch Master' is the most widely grown of the yellow trumpet daffodils. Like famed 'King Alfred' before it, it has become the standard early-blooming yellow daff. In fact, while many suppliers still list 'King Alfred', they almost always ship 'Dutch Master'. The 16- inch tall daffodil is an excellent naturalizer. All daffodils are deer and rodent proof. Foraging deer and rodents will not eat them. Available from Colorblends.com, a Connecticut-based flower bulb wholesaler that sells direct to landscape professionals and home gardeners coast-to-coast with a $60 minimum.
