

Golden Roads Daffodils, Fall Bulb Planting

Each fall the Golden Roads Daffodils team in South Salem, New York, plants 4,000 daffodil bulbs during a three-hour planting event staged on a Saturday morning in late October. Fifty to 70 volunteers sign up to help each year. The bulbs are planted in the grass to minimize maintenance after spring bloom season. To ensure the safety of roadside planting teams, the local police department provides a traffic monitor and police car with flashing lights.
