

Golden Roads Daffodils, Lewisboro Garden Club

Sometimes whole towns fall for daffodils. In South Salem, NY, the local garden club and enthusiastic community volunteers have planted more than 47,000 daffodils along local roadsides since 2005. The non-profit project initiated and run by Lewisboro Garden Club is named Golden Roads Daffodils. Local homeowners inspired by the group effort have planted an additional 38,000 bulbs of the same daffodil blend in high-visibility locations on their properties.
