

'James L. Austin'

David Austin English Rose James L. Austin has perfectly-formed flowers in an unusual shade of deep reddish-pink that's spectacular among garden companions in shades of blue, purple, grey and cream. The rosettes have a classic button eye, a signature Austin breeding trait long associated with the Old Roses (especially the antique Gallicas and Albas). Its delicious fragrance is fruity, evoking blackberry and raspberry with hints of lemon zest and almond. (David Austin 2017, Auspike).
